

Oolichan Books is situated in Lantzville, a seaside village north of Nanaimo on Vancouver Island. Our name is taken from the small fish, once plentiful in West Coast waters and a staple in the diet of First Nations people to whom it was sacred. The oolichan, often referred to as the candlefish, is believed to possess healing powers and guarantee longevity. Oolichan Books is a literary press, publishing poetry, fiction, and non-fiction titles including literary criticism, memoirs, and books on regional history, First Nations, and policy issues.

The cover image is by Bill Helin (www.bill-helin.com), a Tsimshian artist who lives on Vancouver Island. Image can be found in the 2006 West Coast River Wall Calendar, a fundraiser for the preservation of the Englishman River watershed on Vancouver Island.
